FIGHT FOR THE FORTS

The Russians at Port Arthur Make Desperate Effort to Regain Ground.

ARE FACING HEAVY GUNS

DESPERATE SORTIES BY THE GARRISON, BUT JAPANESE NOW HOLD CREST—HEAVY LOSSES TO BOTH ARMIES

Tokio, Oct. 3—4 p. m.—Severe fighting, the heaviest since the assaults in August, occurred Saturday and Sunday on the eastern and southeastern sides of the fortress of Port Arthur, when the Japanese made a general attack on the Russian positions, which the latter defended with the greatest stubbornness. The Japanese were successful in capturing the crest of the hill which they have been attacking for several days, and which dominates the Russian position. The Japanese are now within 1,000 yards of the Russian fortifications on the eastern side of the fortress.

The Japanese losses were heavy, but the Russian losses were much greater. The Japanese who had been a month in front of the Russian position, and who had been subjected to a severe fire from the Russian forts, were unable to withstand the attack of the Japanese, who, after a desperate struggle, succeeded in capturing the crest of the hill. The Russians then made a desperate effort to regain the position, but were unsuccessful. The Japanese are now in possession of the crest of the hill, and are preparing to fortify it.

The Japanese continue to hold the position gained yesterday. The newly captured heavy Japanese guns are said to command the entire harbor.

The sortie of the garrison of the Russian Port Arthur fleet is said to be preparatory and it is believed that the vessels must soon emerge or be destroyed.

Advices from Manchuria are to the effect that the Japanese and Russian outposts and scouts continue in close contact south, southeast and east of Mukden. The situation is regarding daily, and an aggressive general action is expected soon.

It is believed that the general engagement will take place near Te pass and that General Kuropatkin is holding Mukden and positions along the Hun river merely as a temporary check to Japanese advance. Snow has fallen in the mountains east of Mukden and there has been frost in the valleys.

RUSSIANS MUST HAVE WATER

REASON FOR THE DESPERATE SORTIES MADE BY THE GARRISONS AT PORT ARTHUR FLEET IS IN DANGER.

Tokio, Oct. 2—5 p. m.—The Russians have attempted to by one desperate attempt to remedy their lack of water. In digging Port Arthur's supply of fresh water they struck salt water. They are said to have repaired the damage by constructing a dam.

The success of the Russians in holding the position gained yesterday is considered very important. The newly captured heavy Japanese guns are said to command the entire harbor.

The sortie of the remnant of the Russian Port Arthur fleet is said to be preparatory and it is believed that the vessels must soon emerge or be destroyed.

CARL SCHURZ CRITICISES POLICIES OF REPUBLICANS

Boston, Oct. 2.—Carl Schurz, who is delivering the address at one of the Parker Independent clubs, made public today, writes at length on the issues of the campaign.

"There, however," he says, "a political party may sometimes succeed in securing power by means which it may have been at the start, that was not by any means, of power more or less corrupted and made arrogant and arbitrary."

The government of this republic, he said, must be a government not permanently controlled by one political party, but by different parties alternating in the possession of the power. Criticising the Republican party, Mr. Schurz says:

"It has become the advocate and servant of a combination of pecuniary interests in maintaining a high protective tariff, going far beyond its professed purposes, depriving the many for the benefit of a few and striving to keep itself in power by a system of corruption on a large scale. It has by a policy of aggressive conquest and arbitrary rule over subject nations set aside the fundamental principles upon which the republic was founded and thus dangerously weakened in our democracy the highest conservative influence—the popular adherence to our traditional political ideals.

"It has robbed the American people of the inalienable privilege of being exempt from the burden of enormous armaments and under which other nations are groaning, by imposing, without the slightest necessity, similar burdens on our backs. It has thereby not only ceased to countenance and inspire the efforts made in favor of the development of general disarmament but by neglecting other powers by our building a great war fleet, quite superfluous except for aggressive purposes, it is inviting them to follow suit, thus spreading the ruinous race and ranging the American republic among the instigators of a retrogressive tendency hostile to true civilization."

Mr. Schurz criticises the president sharply and says:

"There are two Roosevelts in the field—the ideal—the legendary Roosevelt, as he once appeared and as many people imagine him still to be, and the real Roosevelt, as he has since developed.

"President Roosevelt is an exceedingly interesting, picturesque and forcible character, who would have found a most congenial and glorious field of action at the time of the crusades, but sometimes strangely fails to appreciate the higher moral aims of modern civilization."

leavenness of the administration and can only be met by corporation taxes or selling bonds, thereby increasing the bonded bearing debt of the government. Which course will the republicans adopt? The cost of government during the fiscal year was $541,000,000, which means that the average tax paid in some form by every family of five persons amounts the support of the national administration of public affairs was over $25 which is the case of wage earners is a considerable percentage of their entire earnings for the year. No more money should be taken from the people by taxation direct or indirect than is necessary for the needs of a government economically administered. To show the rapid growth of the cost of government it is only necessary to give the total expenditure in the last fiscal year of the following administrations:

Cleveland, 1892, $345,000,000, per capita $5.29.

Roosevelt, 1904, $552,000,000, per capita $7.19.

Army.

In answer to criticisms upon the size and expenses of maintaining the army the president has said that the number of soldiers now is no greater per capita than in former times. But an army then was necessary to protect settlers from the Indians and to do other police duty in the unsettled portion of the country—conditions which do not now exist. The army, however, has greatly increased in cost, much faster relatively than it has in numbers. The expenditures were:

Under Buchanan in 1860, $16,000,000.

Under Hayes in 1880, $38,000,000.

Prog. Roosevelt in 1904, $115,000,000.

Panama

We all had as the harbinger of the new era in the commerce of the world, the inception of the great work of building the canal that is to join the two great oceans, which inflicted a wound upon our national honor by its disregard for the rights of a weaker nation in order to gain a doubtful credit for energy in forwarding that great enterprise. Territory of a neighboring people, with which we are at peace is seized by a band of revolutionists, protected by the guns of the United States navy and erected into a state over night which the president promptly recognized as an independent nation. A press censor protested against a friendly republic which it was helpless to resent.

Imperialism.

These and many other unwarranted things that belong more to an empire than a republic have occurred under the present administration and brought deep concern and alarm to thoughtful and patriotic minds. They must be regarded as the first fruits of imperialism, and show how fast we are drifting toward absolutism and centralized power.

The effect of the imperialistic tendency of the Republican party upon our foreign affairs is in opposition to the teachings of the founders of the republic and so impressed was Washington with the importance of keeping aloof from the affairs of other nations that in his farewell address he warned his countrymen especially against foreign entangling alliances.

Imperialism is hurtful and abhorrent in a free government and subversive of free institutions. The policy of imperialism—if it can be said to have a policy—is not supported by fair argument and on considered grounds, but seeks to be sustained and disguised by appeals to passion and prejudice. It becomes evident at once that the people of the Philippines are not capable of self-government. But history teaches us that people can be ready for self-government without the intelligence of the people.

The Filipinos have developed the first elements of civilization and have shown themselves capable of carefully reviewing Cripple Creek, Oct. 2.—E. M. Schoenherst, a well known broker of this city who has lately been in charge of the insurance department of Stanley Herrington while the latter has been away on a vacation, is alleged to be short about $1,000.

Gambling is said to have been the cause of the shortage and the places where the money was lost have been served with curiosities summons issued by Sheriff Bell, and the case will be heard some time the coming week. Mr. Schoenherst expects to make good the shortage by turning over his personal property to his former employer.

The young man made a confession of his indebtedness and a judgment for the amount has been issued from the district court.

A public mass meeting was held during the afternoon.

THE ADAMS CAMPAIGN.

THE CAMPAIGN which Alva Adams is making will be a campaign to lose him votes, as it must be. He is endeavoring to arrest class against class, to arouse the prejudices of workingmen everywhere, to convince them that they have been mistreated. He declares that he would see justice done to everyone and that in case of labor troubles he would not be on the capitalistic side.

If Governor Adams were sincere in his campaign speech he were willing to let his campaign speak for him, instead of his ambition to secure the vote of the Western Federation of Miners, he would tell his hearers that Governor Peabody did the only thing that could be done in the face of murder and rioting. If Alva Adams were in the governor's chair and refused to send troops into a disturbed district upon the call of the sheriff he would be immediately liable to impeachment for violating his oath of office and would certainly merit the condemnation of every lover of law and order.

Alva Adams, in his new found friendships, has a great deal to say of the way in which members of the Western Federation of Miners were abused. He does it because he is upon the stump seeking the votes of every person who may be caught by his appealing arguments. But he has nothing to say in behalf of the thousands of men and women in the Cripple Creek district who were kept in a constant state of alarm lest they should be the next to go by the hand of the assassin. He has little to say upon the matter of destruction of property, of infernal machines in mine shafts, of railway stations wrecked and of other lawless practices.

Any man will condemn lawlessness but the test of his sincerity comes when he upholds or condemns the officers of the law in suppressing crime. The Adams theory when a man has been murdered, or a crime committed, is "Don't do it again." What is needed is an executive who will not temporize with crime, who has something more than a backbone of pliable jelly. For what we want as public officials temporizers with lawlessness, from that moment every man's life, liberty and property is menaced. Let us again insist that we will be governed under such circumstances, for at any moment the hand of a lawbreaker may be turned against the poor as well as the rich, and bring anarchy and disaster in its track.

EXPENDITURES ARE ALL RIGHT.

THE CAMPAIGN on the Democratic side has been [illegible] to two contentions, the so-called aggressive policy and imperialism of Theodore Roosevelt and the [illegible] expenditures of the Republican party. These expenditures are credited to Mr. Roosevelt by the ignorant Democratic press, while of course the president has nothing whatever to do with the appropriations which necessitate the expenditure of money for the maintenance of the government. It is true that these expenditures, all things considered, show an increase over the expenditures of previous administrations; as, for instance, the expenditure [illegible] for the Panama canal is no more an [illegible] than is simply the taking of so much money [illegible] and putting it into this great undertaking, and there is no Democrat with courage enough to say that that amount should be taken from the appropriations. We are now expending [illegible] a year for free rural delivery service, and [illegible] Democrat with courage enough, even if he [illegible] to say that we should appropriate a [illegible] which we are to expend this [illegible] and which will be denied [illegible] year to year should the Republicans remain in power.

PROFESSOR LOUD'S ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 2, 1904.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

In the article which appeared in this morning's Gazette, descriptive of the work in stellar photography on Nob Hill, there was an omission, and I (or Lick will do me the favor to correct it as far as possible by giving this note a place in Monday's issue.

It should have been mentioned that the illustration—as well as the others which will appear in the Frontier Monthly—was contributed by Prof. F. C. Jordan, of the Colorado Springs High school. The original photograph is an admirable one, showing a fullness of minute detail which it is impossible to reproduce in a newspaper copy. Mr. Jordan has taken an interest in the stellar work hardly less than my own and has rendered the most valuable assistance in every part. While mentioning his photographs I may add that I happen to know he had contributed to a forthcoming number of the Colorado College Studies a photograph of lightning flashes which is of high scientific interest, and I predict will attract much attention.

The work on Nob Hill is also indebted to others, notably to Mrs. H. M. Mather, who gave the free use of a lot and building for a year, and a ball, as well as to a number of business men of Colorado Springs, for contributions of both money and material, and I take this opportunity of expressing my grateful acknowledgements.

Yours truly, E. H. LOUD.

Colorado Note and Comment

MUST BE DEFEATED

No Republican will care to say a word against Alva Adams as a man, but all of them oppose the doctrine he represents. That is evidence, in spite of his own good personal record, the candidate of the dynamiters he must be defeated.—Rhoades Daily Herald.

NOT PARTY QUESTION.

Partisan politics does not enter into the question. We must vote either for or against those who defy the law and the authorities for attempting to enforce it. Either the law or the dynamiter must prevail in Colorado.—Telluride Daily Journal.

IF.

Artful Alva, the Pueblo banker and Democratic candidate-[illegible] world-without-end-new-and-forever, is with us again.

If an abnormal capacity for the delivery of highly perfumed orations to lady conventions qualifies a candidate [illegible] who gives freedom of press, free mails, cheap postage cannot be questioned.

If an insinuating grin, a winning smile and a sly wink is evidence of wisdom, Alva Adams is undoubtedly the wisest man in the Democratic party.

If the business men and the working men of Colorado when they demand the protection of the state against dynamiters, rioters and assassins can be contented with a sweet smile and a lady-like reception at the state house, Alva Adams could please them, for this is all they would get.—Telluride Daily Journal.

Wit and Wisdom

GOOD NEWS.

Mr. John Sharp Williams, leader of the minority in the house, tells the following illustrative of the passing of the spoils system in office:

"Years ago, before the passage of the civil service act, when every congressman's life was made a burden by the importunities of constituents seeking office, a friend of mine, then representing an Alabama district in the house, was approached by an old acquaintance who desired a clerkship in the treasury department.

"The congressman informed the man that but a day or two before the head of that department had advised the statement that there were no vacancies. Nevertheless the constituent of the Alabama representative persisted in his efforts to obtain the coveted clerkship and for weeks haunted the quarters of the congressman.

"One evening, just as the member was sitting down to dinner he was a little vexed to say the least, by the announcement of his servant that the persistent applicant for appointment at the hands of the treasury department desired to see him.

"On entering the drawing-room the congressman said:

"'Well, what's up now?'

"'Good news, sir!' exclaimed the office-seeker in great excitement. 'I think now can get that place. A clerk in the treasury department died this afternoon!'"—Harper's Weekly.

FROM BRIDE TO BICYCLE.

New George Wright, who for eighteen years has been a city policeman in Seward, Neb., now an interesting story of his efforts to prevent young mail operatives from marrying before their wages would support a home.

A young man who had not yet attained the voting age, and who frequently had attended the evening service at the ministry-at-large, called at his office one morning and told him that he had been keeping company with a girl for several weeks, and wanted to marry her at once.

The clergyman knew that his wages left him a margin of only $3 over his board, and advised him to wait for a year before taking the matrimonial step. The young man was reluctant to accept the advice, but finally agreed to think the matter over for six months.

Mr. Wright met night of him once afterward, and did not come across him again in several months. Then the following conversation took place:

"Well, John, how are you getting along in the mills?"

"All right. I've got a steady job, and am doing well."

"And how about the marriage?"

"Oh, I gave that up."

"What was the matter?" asked the clergyman, seeing in it, perhaps, the fruit of his advice.

"Why, I bought a bicycle instead."—Hartford Post.

"Very well," answered the doctor after [illegible] minutes' thought, "I will go and get Dr. Blank; he lives [illegible]."

Amusements.

PRETTY PEGGY.

The engagement of Julia Sanderson and her company in "Pretty Peggy," announced for four performances opening at the Opera house promises to be an "affair" in all the term implies. This term has come to be used in connection with all kinds and degrees of entertainment, and from that and other causes they prove to be anything but "affairs." But when applied to the one in question the word is used in its truest sense, if we may accept the verdict of critics in the cities many of whom have been really enthusiastic in praising the play and company, as well as the play and production.

Miss Corcoran is probably best remembered here for her pleasing work in "Tennessee's Pardner," in which she appeared for three seasons as Tennessee Kent, and later as Annabel in "At the Old Cross Roads." Since she became a star Miss Corcoran has been presented only in the eastern cities, but many reports of her success have reached us and it is said that as "Pretty Peggy" she has made a most decided hit. The supporting company includes Andrew Robson, who needs no introduction to local playgoers having himself appeared here several times at the head of his own company. He was last seen here as Richard Carvel in the play of that name.

"Pretty Peggy" which is by Francis Aymar Mathews has the record of an almost entire season's run in New York City, which is, in itself, sufficient evidence of the genuine merit to entice the first presentation here a most interesting event even though the pecuniary success of the company and management is so assured.

GEOGRAPHY OF THE ROLL

College Students Come From All Over World.

NINETY-FIVE FROM HERE

TWENTY-TWO STATES AND TWO FOREIGN COUNTRIES REPRESENTED.—BIG COLORADO DELEGATION.

Cosmopolitan college through its geographical ... has many interesting statistics in regard to its student body. While it draws its young people from every section of Colorado a large number of the states of the union are represented, including Maine, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Texas, Ohio, Wisconsin, Indian Territory, Idaho, Michigan, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Connecticut, Alabama, New Mexico and at least two foreign countries.

The present freshman class which has already enrolled one hundred and eight students, independents, of all art and music pupils, who are not included in this number, is from thirteen different states and also from twenty-five different cities and towns in Colorado. All of these students are regular freshmen and make an interesting group of young people. The college in person is more cosmopolitan than any institution of its size in the country and is ... every ...

Ninety-Five Home Students.

Colorado Springs is well represented in the college with 95 students attending regularly, and 31 are taking the conservatory course. Denver also has a large representation in the student body, 36. There are twelve who hail from Greeley and eleven from Pueblo. The college includes a Kenosha, extending from the other towns of the state, cities of other states and territories both of a purely representative ...

The fact that students come together from such different localities adds much to the life of the college and greatly broadens the spirit which exists there.

Church Representation.

There is also a broad representation in their church relations and every denomination in the city has those who are identified with the student body. Without doubt as the college continues to place this wide geographical representation will increase as Colorado Springs becomes more and more an educational center. The coming of these hundreds of young people into the life of the city adds greatly to its value and more and more is this coming to be recognized. There is hardly a home or a business house or leading institution that in one way or indirectly benefited by the presence of the college but best of all is its broadening influence in the whole intellectual and moral life of the town city.

UNLUCKY 13 AT COLLEGE

A week's fearful suspense was ended yesterday for five youths who are attending Colorado college. Ever since they were pledged to the Kappa Sigma fraternity, they had been told, with all the mystery that the day of judgment does on hand, and that on Saturday, October 1, wonderful and fearful things would happen to which they were going to be the heroes, particularly some.

All kinds of unusual stunts which had been impending for weeks were sprung and there was no darting out of Dave Shinkel-trashing was a part of it. The ...ing with the Kappa Sigs ... was another in which co-operation proved keenly ...ful. The goat was there. He always is there. He was not idle, he never is. Yes, the goat was there.

With evening came the cessation of hostilities, and the serving of a sumptuous supper at the Plaza hotel. The repast was enjoyed to the fullest and the members again adjourned to consider the more serious side of life. From this point on the initiation ... more ...

The five new men were admitted as Kappa Sigmas, and the membership ... up to 13. Unlucky 13. But the Kappa Sigs ... charm against the worst, hopeing ... members believe, and are willing to trust in their faith and in 13.

The five new Kappa Sigmas are Chester Roe, Virden McClelland, E. W. P. Smith, Albert P. McLain and Harold M. Swing. The old members of the fraternity are J. M. Platt, Albert Colbert, W. J. Wallrich, Elliot Beyer, Charles Leuchtenburg, Walter Tegtmeyer, Irving Tilton and Montgomery Schmitz. ... the newest member of the Kappa Sigma ... Mary college, was a guest at the fraternity supper. W. J. Wallrich presided at the supper.

CONFIDENCE AND CAPITAL RETURN

LEADVILLE DISTRICT PROMISES TO BE BUSY DURING WINTER. HARD TIMES HAD THEIR EFFECT.

Leadville, Colo., Oct. 2.—According to the reports which are being quietly discussed in mining circles, there will probably be an influx of fresh capital into the Leadville district during the coming winter. The development of several large properties is to be undertaken on an extensive scale. The plans for these operations are not yet ready to be given publicity, but enough is known concerning them to justify the announcement that the coming year will be one of greater activity, especially in some of the newer parts of the district.

This condition of affairs is probably due to the settled conditions in this district more than to any other fact. The resources of the Leadville district are well known, and need little advertisement to bring them to the attention of the eastern investors the prospect of whom gave such a decided impetus to mining [illegible] will bring profitable returns.

The industrial conditions, however, have been improving in many directions during the past year, and during the present month [illegible] of the mines which for many months past have been idle have resumed operations. Leadville has suffered with the rest of the state for the misfortunes of a few small districts.

Leadville has never suffered directly from the unfortunate circumstances which have retarded the development of Cripple Creek and other camps, but the business community has felt the depression of the past few years fully as much as the mining industry. It has only been during the past few weeks that confidence has been fully restored, although there are many [illegible]

The upraise which is started from the drift in the Wood fraction has exposed [illegible] the vein and adjoining [illegible] being opened up as believed to be extensive enough to yield good returns. The extension of the ore in the raise on the fifth was found in the Wood fraction several weeks ago and which [illegible] were high values. Considerable [illegible] of the Wood fraction ore body has been taken out.

The upraise was started to prospect the upper ground in the fraction and in the D. C. & E. shaft is now across by the crosscut. The result has been the demonstration that there is such extensive ore deposits in that vicinity which is [illegible] grade ore.
